CALL FOR NOMINATIONS: IITPSA PRESIDENT'S AWARDS 2023

PRESIDENT'S PODIUM

We were gratified to see record numbers of registrations for the recent virtual workshop for teachers hosted by our Eastern Cape Chapter. Literally hundreds of teachers took advantage of the opportunity to learn more about unplugged coding, Lego League, ChatGPT in education, and cyber security for children. Our thanks to the organisers and volunteers who made this successful event happen.

What this event illustrated yet again was that the IITPSA, its brains trust and professional networks, have a great deal of valuable knowledge we can share to help communities and sectors make the most of ICTs. We saw a similar positive response to our webinars on careers in ICT, and dealing with loadshedding.

By giving up very little time – and at no cost to you whatsoever – you can share your knowledge and help those outside of the sector understand the opportunities, risks and practical applications of emerging digital technologies. You can have an impact and help others progress. Please consider volunteering to help us organise a webinar, or to participate in an expert panel in one of our webinars, or simply attend and benefit from industry knowledge sharing.

If you have ideas for events the IITPSA should host that could benefit our members or the broader community, please get in touch.

We would like to encourage each one of you to actively participate in nominating candidates for the prestigious President Awards in all five categories. These awards celebrate excellence, innovation, and outstanding contributions in the field of information technology and play a crucial role in recognising the remarkable efforts of individuals and organisations that have significantly impacted the industry. Your nominations hold immense importance as they reflect the collective voice of the IITPSA, and help in showcasing the best and brightest talents within our ranks. By nominating deserving candidates, you not only honour their accomplishments but also inspire others to strive for greatness, fostering a culture of growth and advancement within the industry. So, let us come together and put forth our most deserving candidates, and elevate the standards and achievements in the world of information technology. Your nominations are vital in making these awards truly meaningful and reflective of the talent and excellence within our membership and South Africa at large.

Best regards,

Admire

CEO'S COMMUNIQUE

For 44 years, the IITPSA President's Awards have been the South African ICT industry's most prestigious accolades, awarded to only the best and brightest in the business. The oldest award, the IT Personality of the Year, has been awarded to leaders such as the University of Johannesburg's Vice-chancellor and principal, Professor Tshilidzi Marwala, WeThinkCode CEO, Nyari Samushonga, Geekulcha COO, Tiyani Nghonyama, Founder and CEO of Vumatel, Niel Schoeman, Entelect CEO, Shashi Hansjee, and former Microsoft SA MD, Mteto Nyati.

Among the past Visionary CIO of the Year award winners are Intikhab Shaik, head of Technology and Solutions Delivery at SARS, Sandra La Bella, Group CIO at Alexander Forbes, Peter du Plooy, CIO at Engen Petroleum, and Sasol CIO, Alec Joannou.

Winning an IITPSA President's Award puts individuals, teams and projects in excellent company, with the added benefits of significant public exposure and enhanced credibility. With only two weeks left to the deadline for nominations, we urge our members to nominate deserving peers and colleagues for these awards. Nominations are open to all ICT professionals in South Africa. We encourage members and non-members to nominate deserving candidates.

In closing, this edition of the IITPSA newsletter is full of important, upcoming events, including the 2023 National AGM (see notice below), and feedback on the various activities of the Institute during the month of July.

Happy reading!

Best,
Tony

United Nations
Economic Commission for Africa

Tony Parry attends UNECA Regional Review meeting

This month, IITPSA CEO, Tony Parry, participated in, and represented the Institute at, the UN Economic Commission for Africa's Regional Review Meeting on Africa's Contributions towards the Global Digital Compact, held in Cape Town.

The Global Digital Compact seeks to ensure that digital technologies are harnessed for the achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals while mitigating their negative impacts. This event brought together government institution representatives, policymakers, academicians, private sector and civil society organisations, from across the African continent, to discuss and make proposals on Africa's contribution.

Elevate your professional standing with a Pr.CIO® designation

The designation Pr.CIO® is a SAQA Registered and IFIP IP3 accredited professional designation, recognising qualifications and experience at the highest level. Rising young computing stars named in IITPSA Applications Olympiad

The national winners of the 2023 Computer Applications Olympiad have been named, featuring a cohort of new, rising computing stars. The Applications Olympiad is part of the South African Computer Olympiads annual programme, a project of IITPSA. This year's top performers were Ruan Schoeman, a repeat medallist and Grade 11 learner from Homeschool Midrand, who was awarded the gold medal.

Silver medals were awarded to Grade 12s Jeremy Jaeger of Domino Servite School in KwaZulu Natal and Ayesha Saljee of Crawford International College, Sandton in Gauteng. The following Grade 12s were awarded bronze medals: Lara Lategan of Hoërskool Randburg in Gauteng, Donzell Pick of York High in the Western Cape, and Sambulo Zikhali of Empangeni High in KwaZulu Natal.

Back - Lara, Donzell and Sambulo (Bronze Winners)

Front - Ayesha (Silver Winner), Ruan (Gold) and Jeremy (Silver)

IITPSA's Prof. Wesson named an IFIP TC13 Pioneer

IITPSA, the IFIP country member for South Africa, extends our congratulations to IITPSA member Prof. Janet Wesson, Professor of Computing Sciences at the Nelson Mandela University (NMU), who was among only five international candidates chosen to be honoured with the 2023 IFIP TC13 Pioneer Award. An IFIP TC13 Pioneer is someone who, through active participation in IFIP Technical Committees or related IFIP groups, has made outstanding contributions to the educational, theoretical, technical, commercial, or professional aspects of analysis, design, construction, evaluation and use of interactive systems.

ETHICS CORNER

Josine Overdeest, chairperson of the IITPSA Social and Ethics Committee reports on last month's webinar hosted by the IITPSA Social & Ethics Committee and Women in IT Chapter in which she interviewed mobile industry veteran Ineke Botter. Ineke Botter, one of the very few female mobile network CEOs and author of 'Your phone, my life: or, how did that phone land in your hand', reflects on how the world built its mobile networks over the past 30 years. They discussed the amazing story of the mobile revolution and highlighted Ineke's ethical leadership lessons on fighting corruption and building a sustainable ICT skills base in a country.

Moderated by Josine Overdeest, chairperson of the IITPSA Social and Ethics Committee, this event also explored ethics in Botter's work.
